For the month of December, my chapter has been working on fundraising and preparing for upcoming parades we will be featured in. For our fundraiser this year we continue to work with SaveAround, offering them to the community and those in need, and we will be participating in two parades to show SkillsUSA in our communities . We have been working towards preparations for regionals with competitors and deciding who will be attending. Other than those tasks my chapter has been slightly quiet as of this month but we are looking forward to the upcoming season ahead.

This month in my chapter we've developed our community service project and gotten the ball rolling. Our objective is to help the other kids at school with their academic work. The other kids in my chapter took some ideas from fall leadership where they came up with community service projects and put a couple together to come up with this tutor program. We made flyers with QR codes that lead you to a sign up sheet. We want to help CTE students here succeed in their math and English. This will also help build leadership skills for those who tutor and encourage communication and teamwork for those who are being tutored. This includes help with tests, homework and in class assignments for those who need it. I am so grateful to be able to work with my chapter officers on this project. It's inspiring to be able to bounce ideas off each other and come up with things together. Since we all have a similar mindset and goal it's easy to make decisions where everyone benefits. Engaging with other students is a key part of this process. This peer-to-peer communication will take place during school breaks, club meetings, and other student gatherings. My chapter has planned to make flyers that include important details such as upcoming events, competitions, leadership development programs, and how students can get involved. The informational day is planned for January, providing a great chance for students to learn more about SkillsUSA, ask questions, and sign up for events. The informational day will feature presentations on SkillsUSA's mission, benefits, and upcoming activities. There will also be opportunities for students to meet current members and advisors and ask questions. This event aims to inspire students to take advantage of the leadership and skill-building opportunities SkillsUSA offers.

This month has been defined by the spirit of giving. I've been collaborating with my regional officers to come up with new service ideas and organize our chapter meetings. I'm incredibly proud to announce that our SkillsUSA chapter raised over $1,200 for the City Mission toy drive! After our CTE classes used these funds to purchase gifts, six of our student officers volunteered their time to help local parents select and wrap presents for their children. Participating in such a heartwarming project was a powerful experience; seeing the joy we brought to our neighbors truly captured the essence of the holiday season!

For the month of December there wasn't much to report. We had a thanksgiving community food drive that helped a lot of families with dinner. We also had CTE workers which I did not attend but heard of. CTE works when students from each class go to the city center and show the middle schoolers in the community what BOCES programs can do for them. I have received the packing list for our practice states conference for February and I'm looking forward to that. Happy Holidays! Can't wait to report in 2026!

Our chapter has successfully completed our Holiday Fundraiser and Angel Tree Project for this holiday season. Through these initiatives, members worked together to raise funds and collect gifts to support local families in need. These projects allowed our chapter to strengthen our commitment to community service while developing leadership, teamwork, and responsibility among our members. I am very thankful for the dedication and hard work shown throughout these events. As we move into the new year, I am excited and hopeful for the opportunities ahead and cannot wait to see what the new year will bring for our SkillsUSA chapter as we continue to grow, serve our community, and build strong leaders.

As a SkillsUSA State Officer, I actively support service within my local chapter. This holiday season, I helped organize and participate in a community service project that provided Christmas presents to a local family in need. Through this effort, our chapter worked together to collect, wrap, and deliver gifts, helping spread kindness and support during the holidays while reinforcing SkillsUSA's values of leadership, service, and community involvement.

As a chapter, we demonstrated strong leadership and collaboration by organizing a Holiday House event outside of our school that brought together multiple CTE programs, local businesses, and the community. The event featured interactive booths hosted by different CTE programs, allowing students to showcase their skills, educate attendees about career pathways, and promote SkillsUSA values. We also partnered with food trucks and local vendors to create a welcoming, community-centered atmosphere while supporting small businesses. To increase engagement, we offered giveaways and activities that encouraged participation from students, families, and community members. Overall, the Holiday House was a successful example of how SkillsUSA chapters can connect education, leadership, and community service while highlighting the impact of CTE programs beyond the classroom.

This month, our chapter hosted a SkillsUSA presentation on the dangers of distracted driving led by Karen Torres, a national speaker who discusses the dangers of distracted driving. Students also participated in a simulated driving under the influence activity, using goggles. We discussed following the presentation and the use of the goggles the importance of decision making and personal responsibility. We also supported a coat drive to benefit members of our local community who may be without a coat during the cold weather. We placed a box in the main hallway and encouraged people to donate new or gently used coats, which we gave to the Rescue Mission. Our donations filled several bags and were brought to the Rescue Mission. In addition, we held regular meetings and completed activities that focused on responsibility and making safe choices.

I have started reviewing for some upcoming state officer training events set to happen early next year. In other news the holiday spirit is a hot commodity at our local chapter. We recently hosted a Christmas themed open house that gained a lot of traction within our chapter and our local community. I look forward to continuing to grow our chapter and our chapter officers. Happy holidays!!
